LOCAL POINTS.

—Trains from the west light last evening.
—Sidewalks full of promenaders last evening.
—The Bunch of Keys will jingle in St. Louis the coming week.
—Farmers be hard at work again in a day or two if it don't rain.
—About as dull a day for news as ever dropped down on the city.
—Theodore Brickley, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Brickley, is very ill.
—George Washington elected president of the United States, April 6, 1789.
—The "hot" man on the corner didn't do a land-office business last evening.
—All the churches will be well patronized to-day. If they aren't, they ought to be.

—Dr. Joseph Patt, the veterinarian, was called to Beaman and Le Monte yesterday on surgical business.

—Born to the wife of Louis A. Warford, 1407 Harrison avenue, a fine daughter.

—The horse sales on the main street, mud or no mud, draw a crowd of buyers and spectators.

—The fire alarm bell will be one of the first things to be seen when it gets down to business.

—Imported hosiery at Minter Bros. this week. Absolutely fast black; if stain or crock you will get your money back.

—Sedalia lodge No. 27, Knights of Pythias, conferred the third rank on Sam P. Johns, Jr., Friday night in amplified form.

—Spring already blooms out in the garb and garbment of the ladies, "whom Heaven bless forever and aye," as the Irish gallant once said.

—Looked like good times again yesterday with the sidewalks full of people from the farming "deestricks" and trading with our merchants.

—Tramps and fellows who "bum" freight trains, give Sedalia as wide a berth as possible. They generally surround it, instead of passing through.

—Last night was the advertised time for the Sedalia Chicago World's Fair Excursion association to have a meeting and adopt a constitution and by-laws.

—It is thought that, as there are three men missing from Sedalia, since the horse and saddle mentioned elsewhere were stolen, one of these tramps must naturally be the thief. There is a little more than surmise in this.

—The menu at the Hotel LeGrande for to-day's dinner will be a marvel in the gastronomic line, as special preparations have been made to honor the glad Easter day with a spread that will be not only an artistic delight but will also appeal to the best senses of the craving inner man, and appease the eye and the palate with joys and pleasures not often vouchsafed to weary, hungry mortals here below. To speak plainly, the LeGrande's bill of fare to-day, is a triumph over all preceding victories in the way of cuisine. And all who partake of the dinner are to be envied, in advance. Stroll around that way about noon and verify the above.

Half Egg, Half Alligator.

The calliope and whale show and the big bankrupt sale drew crowds yesterday, but none of them eclipsed the beautiful display of Easter eggs in Bard's show windows as a drawing card. On exhibition at this popular drug store were hundreds of dyed eggs—small, large, blue, green, yellow, red and gold, and crowning all the rest, a genuine alligator egg with the alligator half out of the shell. This curious specimen was brought from St. Augustine, Fla., by Mr. Bard some months ago. Mr. Will Schnare was the artist, who, if the trite pun may be excused did some excellent work on the hen fruit, and his bettering on the avoid spheres was beautiful and highly appreciated by all who received specimens with Mr. Bard's compliments.

Easter Splashes.

[Written by a Sedaliense, April 5, 1890.
Oh, the slush!
The beautiful slush;
Making the street like a bed of brown mush;
Covering sidewalk and crossing and road
Like a mud river with banks overflowed.
Miring the trousers of man and dude,
Treating white skirts in manner so rude
That wearers of them with a giggle and blush,
Lift them and skip through the beautiful slush;

Beating like batter as horses slosh through,
Stealing the shine from the shimmering shoe,
Spattering sealskin and satin and plush,
Dragging and dabbling the town with a push,
Knocking from beautiful spring all the gush—
These are the antics
Oh beautiful slush!

Some of our most prominent citizens have been cured of chronic rheumatism by that wonderful pain-banisher—Salvation Oil. Price 25 cents.

"Why Jones, what a ho(a)rse you have in your throat!" "Yes, I raised it from a col(d) in my head. I've too much live stock." "Well, like cures like; Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup will cure you. The Bull will quickly scare the ho(a)rse away."

Royal Arcanum.

The Sedalia council, Royal Arcanum, which was instituted in February, has been growing rapidly, as witness the new membership. At the meeting last week the following candidates were admitted: J. H. Redmon, C. A. Wesson, J. C. Thompson, John Walmsley, J. D. Secher, J. C. Van Riper, C. H. Rockwell, W. H. Edmonson, T. E. Swann, J. J. Coates, C. H. Burkett, Benj. Hinchcliffe, Leslie Merry, S. K. Bullard, and L. N. Kintz. There are also quite a number of applications on hand, and the indications are for a specially healthy growth, for an order, dividing the social with insurance features.

The Late Empress Augusta.

In a talk before the Anglo American society at Ber in, minister Phelps told about his last audience with the late Dowager Empress Augusta. "One thing especially struck me," he said; "every topic seemed to lead her unconsciously to the same subject of the love of peace which appeared strangely to occupy and fill her mind. Whether speaking of America's material and moral growth, or of France and the exhibition, she always reverted to peace. Detecting a gleam of merriment on my face at this, she in a winning, half pettish tone reproached me, adding: 'Think what I know of war,' and murmuring something of which I caught only the words father and son, she dismissed me with the injunction to promote peace between Germany and America."

Died.

Yesterday morning, the infant child of J. J. Betts, conductor of the middle division of the Missouri Pacific. Funeral yesterday afternoon at four o'clock to the city cemetery.

Mrs. Emma Dillon, aged 26, died yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock from an attack of measles, after an illness of ten days at No. 406 Washington avenue. Her funeral will take place at 4 o'clock, this afternoon, at Mt. Pleasant church, in Benton county, McLaughlin Bros. being the undertakers.

Easy to Improve on Flack.

General Daniel E. Sickles has been appointed Sheriff in New York City in place of Flack, who resigned a few days ago owing to a prospective engagement in Sing Sing. The new official says he will try to please the bench, the bar and the people. He also announces, to the gratification of New Yorkers, that he will try to run the office on the legal fees connected therewith. It is so long since that has been done that it is something of an experiment, and the General is evidently doubtful as to the result. He should take comfort, however, in the thought that he cannot possibly do worse than his predecessor.

Flack Exposed by the Newspapers.

We observe that Mr. Flack, his son, Will Flack—the despicable fellow who was a party to deceiving, defrauding and humiliating his mother—Referee Meeks and Judge Bookstaver all attribute their defeat and punishment to the newspapers. All good and useful editors will take a share of the compliment these scamps, enemies of society, plunderers of the innocent and debasers of home life, pay the craft when they say that but for the faithfulness of the newspapers they could have gone on indefinitely in their nefarious courses, and wouldn't have been punished, even if found out, except for the powerful light the press turned on their misdoings.—Chattanooga Times.

SANCHO PANZA.

Tells of a new Scheme to Work Business Men.

Whether it is an old or new scheme to work business men, I am unable to say, but its effectiveness is, I have no doubt, more general than is currently believed.

A sharper enters your store or place of business in the guise of a drummer, presents his card and is so ably interested in your prosperity, as to absolutely startle you with bargains. He has no grips or sample cases usually, but is so thoroughly versed in his vocation as to impress you with his sincerity and makes you prices that are absolutely reckless.

"Order or no order," is all one to him. He has the opportunity and springs his little "fakes." The sound of a train whistle is his favorite signal to begin operations, or in lieu of that any fancied cause for haste will suffice. He is suddenly reminded by the sound of the whistle, that he must hurry away, and as he has nothing less than a "twenty," requests you to change it. You are conscious that you have but little time in which to oblige him, so you count him out three fives and five dollars in silver, for which you receive his twenty dollar bill. No, it is not counterfeit. It is genuine U. S. currency.

Now follows the trick. He accidentally discovers just here, that he has an extra quarter, half dollar or dollar, that had been overlooked, so he blandly observes that he does not care to be encumbered with so much silver, and will you give him a bill for the five dollars you had just given him in change. Of course, you will, and do so, he laying down his silver and taking up your bill. He then very considerably and courteously observes that, as you may need the change you have favored him with, he will return it to you for his twenty.

All right you may need it. He then lays down three five dollar bills along side of the silver and reaches for the twenty. If you have become sufficiently confused by this time to pass it to him, you will find on footing up your cash, that you are just five dollars out, for the five dollars you gave him in exchange for his silver has disappeared, while the three original bills and the silver are all that remains, yet there are twenty dollars before you, in plain view, see?

I have no doubt but that this trick has been played many times, but the victims think too much of their prudence and reputation to allow it to be known, as they would at once become liable to ridicule, especially from their companions in business.

SANCHO PANZA.

I like my wife to use Potzoni's Complexion Powder because it improves her looks and is as fragrant as violets.

False Report.

A rumor that the wife of Col. Wm. Hall, of Springfield, formerly of Sweet Springs had become insane and which was mentioned in the BAZOO last Sunday is entirely untrue. There is not the slightest foundation for it, so the BAZOO is now informed from reliable sources, and this paper regrets that it was circulated.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

Saline County Salad.

—Saline County has five candidates for probate judge, eight for recorder, six for sheriff, three for prosecuting attorney, and several townships yet to hear from.

—Mr. J. P. Philpott went to Sedalia last night. He is thinking of disposing of the branch shoe store in the city of the electric railroad—Marshall Progress.

—Col. Vincent Marmaduke says that in a recent talk with Jay Gould, that millionaire confessed that his millions were more of a worry than a blessing, and when the Colonel told him of an old neighbor he used to have in Saline, who owned a little farm, wore homespun, and earned his daily bread, and was a model of content, the plutocratic Jay exclaimed, "That, sir, was a happy man, only such men are really happy in this world."

I suffered ten years with nervous dyspepsia. Doctors and medicine failed to relieve me until I used Smith's Bile Beans. They cured me entirely and my health is now than it has been since the civil war. W. H. CARTER, Abington, Va.,
